

To Whom It May Concern,

I am pleased to recommend Dhruv Toprani, who interned on our project management / technical project management team at Whisker. Throughout his internship, Dhruv consistently demonstrated strong technical skills, initiative, and a genuine desire to improve the way we worked.

Dhruv played an important role in enhancing our product information management processes within Plytix. He developed a script that streamlined our product import workflow, making the process more efficient and reducing the manual effort required. He also created a Google spreadsheet with a direct API connection to Plytix, allowing data to be imported more seamlessly and helping improve the overall reliability of our product management workflow.

What stood out most about Dhruv was his ability to quickly understand complex systems and identify practical solutions that had a meaningful impact on our team's day-to-day operations. He approached challenges with a positive attitude, worked independently when needed, and was always willing to learn.

I thoroughly enjoyed working with Dhruv and appreciated the contributions he made during his internship. I am confident he will continue to grow and make a positive impact wherever he goes, and I recommend him without hesitation.

Sincerely,

Bianca Rodriguez
